Moderator: Howard Cure, Director of Municipal Bond Research, Evercore

Speakers: JR DeShazo, Dean, Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs, The University of Texas at Austin; Martin Luby, Director, Center on Municipal Capital Markets, Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs, The University of Texas at Austin

Break - 9:15 am – 9:30 am

9:30 am – 10:45 am

Climate Risk Disclosures: What Do We Need & How Do We Get There?

Climate change poses a threat to the economic activity and sustainability of communities through extreme weather events that are occurring more frequently and becoming more devastating. At the same time, the U.S. government is facing its own rising fiscal challenges that may alter the availability of and way FEMA's disaster relief funds are distributed to state and local governments, and the insurance industry is adjusting to limit its exposure in the most vulnerable areas.

Because of the convergence of these factors, robust climate risk disclosure from municipal issuers is becoming increasingly critical. Issuers and borrowers in the municipal market, however, face challenges in offering investors specific insights related to their individualized climate-related risks and potential consequences, adaptation efforts planned/taken and related costs, and/or the potential impacts of inaction.

Panel participants will discuss which climate risk disclosures municipal bond investors consider critical, the current gaps that exist, and the challenges that may inhibit more comprehensive disclosure.

Moderator: Lisa Washburn, Managing Director, Municipal Market Analytics, Inc,

Panelists: Shaska Chirinos, Senior Responsible Investment Manager, U.N. Principles for Responsible Investment; Carol McCoog, Partner, Hawkins Delafield & Wood, LLP;

Leigh Wallace, Chief Financial Officer, City of Georgetown, Texas

Break - 10:45 am – 11:00 am

11:00 am – 12:15 pm - Credit Trends & Pricing: Risk or Opportunity?

Fund flows remain positive, creating pressure for investors to deploy capital. This raises the question: Do similarly rated credits price and trade the same across different sectors?

A significant portion of municipal debt is rated A or higher, often leading investors to treat pricing on these deals as a commodity. However, a review of the intersection of credit and pricing in various sectors—such as GO, water, higher education, charter schools, and senior living—reveals potential risks and opportunities. Additionally, in the BBB range, divergent analyst opinions result in credits of the same rating level pricing with different yields. Is this a risk or an opportunity?

This panel will bring together a banker, an underwriter, and a portfolio manager to explore these questions.

Moderator: Yaffa Rattner, Senior Managing Director, Hilltop Securities Inc.

Panelists: Romy McCarthy, Managing Director, D.A. Davidson & Co.; Brian Olson, Director, RBC Capital Markets; Anthony LoGalbo, Director, Assured Guaranty

12:15 pm – 1:45 pm - Luncheon with Business Meeting

1:45 pm – 3:00 pm - Paving the Way: The Evolving Role of Municipal Bonds in Transportation Infrastructure

How does the municipal bond market play a role in our systems of roads, bridges, and mass transit? We will examine how traditional means of financing and funding surface transportation infrastructure are evolving. The Federal Highway Trust Fund has long been an important component of funding and financing, so we will get an update on its special role. Through a credit analyst's lens, we'll examine current practices, federal policies, and ideas for the future.

Moderator: Bedford Lydon, Senior Fixed Income Analyst, Loomis Sayles,

Panelists: Mary Francoeur, Managing Director (retired), PFM Financial Advisors LLC;

Chad Shirley, Principal Analyst, Congressional Budget Office; Reid Tomlin, Director, Head of Municipal SMA and Bond Fund Research, Charles Schwab Asset Management,

Break - 3:00 pm – 3:15 pm

3:15 pm – 4:30 pm - Are Special Revenue Bonds Still Special?

Some of the decisional law that has come out of the Puerto Rico Title III case has disrupted the foundations of commonly held conceptions regarding the protections that special revenue bonds receive in a bankruptcy. What are the broader municipal market implications of recent decisions?

Moderator: John Hutton, Shareholder, Greenberg Traurig, P.A.

Breakout 1 – Powering the Future: Utilities’ Strategies for Managing Risks & Investments in the Age of AI

As the AI-driven demand for power-hungry data centers continues to surge, utilities face the challenge of meeting this load growth with necessary infrastructure investments, all while navigating the complexities of the carbon transition. Additionally, the electrification of transportation and industrial growth is placing greater demands on power grids. This panel will explore how utilities are managing risks associated with data centers, including upfront capital costs and stranded asset risk if actual energy demand falls short of projections. The discussion will also cover how load growth is reshaping long-term resource plans and how utilities will balance rate affordability with rate increases to support rising capex.

Moderator: Julie Meyer, Assistant Vice President – Analyst, Moody’s Ratings

Panelists: Gaurav Sen, Market Lead, SPP, Aurora Energy Research; Cory Kuchinsky, Chief Financial Officer & Treasurer, CPS Energy; Karl Pfeil, Managing Director, Wells Fargo N.A.

Breakout 2 - Best Practices & Pitfalls Negotiating Financial Covenants

Financial covenants done right can provide important bondholder protections, but some are clearly better than others. What are the typical pitfalls in negotiating financial covenants and what are best practices to avoid them? For example, there are different ways to negotiate a debt service coverage ratio (is the numerator based on net change in assets or operating income?), or a days cash on hand covenant (does cash on hand include reserves?). Our expert panel will discuss best practices and market standards, with an eye towards what investors could and should negotiate for.

Moderator: Michael Guippone, Partner, ArentFox Schiff LLP

Speakers: Andrew Belsky, Director, High Yield Municipal Credit, First Eagle Investments; Matthew O’Grady, Managing Director, KeyBanc Capital Markets; James Balsamo, Credit Analyst, Vanguard

Breakout 3 - Margins, Metrics and Management: Strategies for a Sustainable Healthcare Sector

Despite some marginal improvements over the past year, the hospital sector remains challenged. Panelists will share their perspectives on whether the sector has entered a phase of “normalization” or is still navigating “stabilization.” The discussion will focus on ongoing revenue and expense pressures. Attendees will learn about the tools that hospital management teams are using to improve margins, liquidity, and leverage ratios, as well as the factors contributing to the struggles of certain operators.

Moderator: Mohammed Murad, Head of Municipal Credit Research, PT Asset Management LLC

Panelists: Jordan Timberlake, VP, Treasurer and Investment Operations, Memorial Hermann Health System; Steve Sohn, Senior Vice President, Kaufman Hall and Associates, LLC; Meghan O’Keefe, Executive Director & Co-Head of Not-for-Profit Healthcare Banking, J.P. Morgan

Breakout 4 - Capital for Communities: An Introduction to CDFIs

Explore how Community Development Financial Institutions (CDFIs) fit into the broader landscape of the bond market and social impact investing. Gain valuable insights from experienced CDFI practitioners about how these institutions strategically leverage resources to secure capital and drive economic growth in traditionally underserved markets. This session will provide a comprehensive overview of the mission-driven lending strategies of CDFIs and the pivotal role of capitalization in delivering financial products and services. Panelists will explore the benefits and key considerations of incorporating CDFIs into investment portfolios, including meeting ESG objectives.

Moderator: Kasia Reed, Director, Fitch Ratings

Panelists: Mikiyon Alexander, Head of Coverage, Momentus Securities; Adam Guerino, Associate Portfolio Manager, Nuveen; Anna Smukowski, Senior Director, Capital Programs, Enterprise Community Loan Fund

Breakout 5 - Essential Housing – Repair or Replace?

Four to six years after Essential Housing bonds exploded onto the high yield scene in what seemed like a never-ending deluge between 2019 and 2021, they have come to be a source of controversy from investment and public policy standpoints. Additionally, Essential Housing projects have started to cause headaches as the legal structure has faced regulatory challenges and the investment thesis has been questioned with certain issues tripping covenants and potentially needing to restructure. The panel will discuss the prospects for this sector from investment, legal, and public policy perspectives.

Moderator: Richard Schwam, Senior Vice President, High Yield Research Analyst-Municipal Credit, AllianceBernstein

Panelists: Adam Cray, Vice President, CSG Advisors; Andrew Deming, Managing Director, Fixed Income Trading, Piper Sandler & Co.; William P. Wassweiler, Partner, Ballard Spahr

Breakout 6 - Hope for the Best, but Plan for the Worst – What to Know about Restructurings, Workouts & Bankruptcies

The credit has been performing steadily for years, but suddenly the bonds are in default and the borrower is facing operational, financial and general market distress. What are the options available to investors to effectuate a workout or restructuring – and which is the right one for the situation? This panel will provide a general overview of options available for effectuating a workout or restructuring, with a specific focus on the bankruptcy process.

Moderator: Tim McKeon, Of Counsel, Mintz

Panelists: Naomi O'Dell, Managing Director, Raymond James & Associates; Adam Trusley, Vice President, T. Rowe Price

12:00 pm – 1:30 pm - Luncheon & Awards Presentations

1:30 pm – 2:30 pm - Municipal Industry Roundtable

The Municipal Industry Roundtable will bring together key industry experts to discuss pressing topics and emerging trends affecting municipal issuers.

A focal point of discussion will include regulatory updates and new laws, such as the Federal Data Transparency Act (FDTA), which impacts how municipalities report financial and operational data.

Moderator: Neene Jenkins, Head of Municipal Research, Executive Vice President, JP Morgan Asset Management

Panelists: Joel Black, Chair, GASB; Emily Brock, Director, Federal Liaison Center, GFOA; Mark Kim, President & CEO, MSRB; Dave Sanchez, Director, Office of Municipal Securities, SEC

2:30 pm – 4:00 pm - Break

2:45 pm – 4:45 pm - Impact of Demographic Shifts on Credit Quality

Changing demographics and the forecast of significant aging of the American population could expose the economy, governments and other municipal issuers to a confluence of challenges, but could also present some opportunities for those prepared. This panel will explore recent demographic trends, including migration and immigration effects, aging populations, and which public finance sectors are most exposed by these trends. We will also discuss competitive advantages of different regions, characteristics of weakening and strengthening economies, and how entities are trying to get ahead of the curve.

Moderator: Ladunni Okolo, Director, Lead Analyst, S&P Global Ratings

Panelists: Colleen Falkenstern, Senior Research Analyst, Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE); Rogelio Saenz, PhD, Professor, Department of Sociology and Demography, University of University of Texas at San Antonio; Tim Tung, Municipal Research Analyst, Allspring Global Investments

10:00 am – 11:15 am - Brace for Impact? Managing Airport Capital Plan Implementation in an Increasingly Uncertain Demand Environment

Following a pronounced, post-Covid recovery in enplanements at many U.S. airports to new record levels, in part spurred by new "revenge" and "bleisure" travelers, airport CFOs and debt managers are now confronting the realities of flattening and/or declining passenger traffic and an increasingly troubled airline industry that is grappling with ongoing pilot and aircraft shortages, evolving regional service models, domestic overcapacity, and potential industry consolidation, with one, large ultra-low cost carrier currently in bankruptcy. At the same time, airports of all sizes (and credit levels) are moving forward on transformational, multi-year capital improvement plans, significant portions of which are being debt financed, to expand and/or upgrade airfield and terminal infrastructure. Join experts representing the airport, aviation consulting, and financial services sectors as we discuss sector strengths, risks and potential pitfalls an investor should consider as they contemplate an investment in airport revenue bonds.

Moderator: Douglas J. Kilcommons, Managing Director, Public Finance, KBRA

Panelists: Kevin Roberts, Head of Airports and Florida, BAM Mutual; Jeff Schulthess, Executive Vice President, Landrum & Brown; Kathleen Sharman, Executive Vice President, Chief Financial Officer, Greater Orlando Aviation Authority

11:15 am - Conference Adjourns

11:15 am – 2:30 pm - Optional Site Visit - San Antonio International Airport
